Detailed Description of Project	Type of Service Provided
Landell Mills has been contracted to design a harmonised monitoring and evaluation system for the sugar sector in Swaziland. The system is to monitor the impact of the EU Sugar Accompanying Measures (AMSP) but will also measure the progress of the NAS (National Adaption Strategy). Aside from delivering the M&E system over a two-year period, capacity is also built in the institutions that will eventually host the system and institutional arrangements are being proposed. A sensitisation seminar is organised to raise awareness of the benefits of a well functioning M&E system and promote the development of an M&E culture in Swaziland. The following services are provided under the contract: • Design of a fully developed M&E system for the sugar sector - agreed and presented to all stakeholders • Indicator fiches for each of the 15 harmonised indicators • Baseline report, annual reports to stakeholders • Proposal for institutional arrangements and capacity building of staff for maintenance of the system	• Awareness raising M&E seminar for sugar stakeholders • Stocktaking exercise of data supply in the sugar sector • Design an M&E system with 15 indicators • Baseline study with indicators broken down by historical and gender factors • 2 annual progress reports on the value added of EU donor support in the sector to date • Proposal for institutional arrangements and capacity building of staff for maintaining the system
